Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Charles M. Barnhart of Hardin tells us about a football game in 1940 between Army and Fordham in which Army won by a score of 35 to 0.

As Mr. Barnhart says, the score does not tell the full story because it was a whale of a ball game.

Army was charged with twelve penalties (seven for personal fouls) and lost 147 yards on account of penalties (seven for personal fouls) with eleven penalties (with eight for personal fouls) and lost 131 yards. Over 100 yards in penalties were declined by the two teams.

At one point Army fumbled on the Fordham 19, fumbled again at the three, were thrown for a loss at the 20 on fourth down and one to go and lost a touchdown from the twenty five yard line when they had a man off side.

However Army did pass for two touchdowns near the end of the first half. Now listen to this. Army's Jack Mackmull kicked the ball between the goal posts for the extra point but Army was called for unnecessary roughness. The point was not allowed and Army was penalized 15 yards.

Now at the seventeen yard line, Mackmull again kicked the ball between the uprights, but again there was a penalty against Army for unnecessary roughness. This moved the ball back 15 yards to the 32. Mackmull kicked again and missed, but this time Fordhamness and the ball was moved forward to the 17 again on the penalty. Once more Mackmull kicked the ball and once more he missed, but also once more Fordham was called for unnecessary roughness and the ball was moved forward to the 17 again on the penalty.

The ball was moved to the two yard line, its original position, Mackmull, on his fifth try, split the uprights and made the extra point.

This is why Mr. Barnhart says the score does not always tell the whole story.

Murray State has only seven more games in the current college season.

136 Viet Cong Killed In Action

By BYRON MILLER

United Press International

SAIGON (UPI) — Allied forces killed 136 Viet Cong Communists in a series of skirmishes, a spokesman reported today. But five Americans died in a plane crash near the Laotian border and another air accident sent U.S. bombs raining down on U.S. Marines.

The last plane was a C-123 flying a defoliation mission along the fringes of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). It was shot down, possibly in Laos. It was one of three planes trying to defoliate broad stretches of the DMZ with chemicals. A second C-123 was hit.

The accidental bombing of U.S. Marines was carried out by a super-sophisticated A-1H intruder jet which was controlled by radio. It hit a Marine unit 75 miles south of Da Nang, killing one and wounding 11 others with fragmentation bombs. Eight of the wounded required hospitalization.

The land, sea and air action which killed the 136 Viet Cong cost the Allies only light casualties. In one action South Vietnamese troops killed 56 in the Mekong Delta in a 70-minute firefight. U.S. Marines killed 40 in the northern jungles of South Vietnam.

Five Killed In Trailer-Car Crash

COLUMBIA, S.C. (UPI) — A tractor-trailer truck and an automobile collided early today on Interstate Highway 26. The truck stopped and a Continental Trailways bus rammed into it with a crashing impact that ripped the bus apart and killed five passengers.

A number of others, many seriously injured, were pulled from the twisted wreckage of seats, glass and metal. "It sounded like a 500-pound bomb exploding," said a witness, H. J. Egan. "It was the worst thing you ever saw."

The top and part of the right side of the bus were virtually torn off. Ambulances rushed victims to hospitals in Columbia, but had no immediate estimate of the number injured. Coroner Cecil Wyles said at least five passengers died in the crash. He withheld the names pending notification of relatives. The bus, which originated in Asheville, N.C., stopped in Spartanburg, S.C., and was headed for Columbia and Charleston when it crashed into the stopped truck about three miles northwest of here.

Her husband, Rev. Johnson Bailey of Murray Route One, was reported to have been injured, but was not admitted to the hospital. Clayton Adams of Farmington Route Two at Coldwater was reported to have had a leg injury, but he was not admitted to the hospital either, according to the hospital officials.

State Police said both the Bailey and Adams cars were traveling toward Mayfield when a vehicle turned left into a side road in front of the Adams' car. Adams applied his brakes and the Bailey car collided with the rear of his car, according to Trooper Ezra Mendez.

The local service will be at 1:00 p.m. on Friday, Feb. 10, at the First Christian Church, according to Mrs. William Porter, president of the local United Church Women's Council. Raymond Earl Paschall of Paducah, Tenn., Route Three, age eight, was reported to have received back and head injuries in the car-truck collision Tuesday at 5:36 p.m., according to Patrolmen Martin Wells and Ed Knight of the Murray Police Department.

The young boy has abrasions about the forehead and lower back, according to authorities at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital where he was admitted.

Police said Paschall was a passenger in the 1966 Ford two door hardtop, driven by Bonnie Allen Fulton, of 408 North 5th Street and owned by Jimmy M. Gellmore. He was reported to be in the back seat on the left hand side and was thrown over the front seat in the collision.

The Ford was traveling south on 641 South when Richard Hendrix, White, Route Four, Chirocam Drive, driving a 1965 Chevrolet one ton truck, traveling west on Glendale Road, pulled out from the stop street and hit the Ford in the left side, according to the Police report.

Two other accidents were investigated by the Murray Police Department on Tuesday.

At 10:31 p.m. Donnie Darrell Boyd, 1965 Dodge, driving a 1965 Chevrolet two door owned by James T. Starks of Murray Route Four, had stopped to let a passenger out of his car, Beverly Anne Paschall, 415 Spangrow Street, driving a 1965 Oldsmobile four door owned by Cecil Paschall, started to pass on the right side and turned too quick and hit the Chevrolet in the right front, according to Patrolmen William McDougal and Sgt. ## Counterfeit Twenty Dollar Bill Shows Up Here On Tuesday

Sheriff Cohen Stubblefield reported this morning that a counterfeit $20.00 bill turned up at Parker's Food Market yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Ralph Saxon of Murray, who works at Calvert City, said that he had cashed a check at Smith's Food Market in Mayfield and continued on to Murray.

Five of the twenty dollar bills he received were deposited in a local bank and the sixth one was used to purchase groceries. The twenty dollar bill which Mrs. Saxon used to pay for the groceries was deemed counterfeit.

Joe Pat Ward at the Bank of Murray said that two counterfeit twenty dollar bills were discovered before Christmas but those were the last that he had seen.

Mrs. Saxon said that she deposited the five other bills at the branch bank of the Bank of Murray and that they had checked the bills, after they were notified of the possibility of counterfeiting, and they were reported as good bills.

The counterfeit twenty dollar bills in circulation in the area are difficult to detect, however the differences are noticeable when placed beside a good bill. Differences in the sizes of lettering, clarity of printing, and other points may be used to spot the counterfeit.

Mrs. Saxon said that it was embarrassing to her to have such a bill and that she hopes that it never occurs again.

Apollo Moonship Dismantled As Inquiry Begins

By AL ROSSITER Jr.

United Press International

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (UPI) — Technicians slowly dismantled the Apollo 1 moonship today to help investigators pinpoint the cause of the flash fire that killed three astronauts and stalled the drive to the moon.

At the same time, another Apollo cabin module was being flown to the Cape from Downey, Calif., to give the board of experts a duplicate craft to examine. It may also be used as a replacement for the fire-riddled Apollo 1 ship.

Spacecraft crews worked throughout the night on the craft in which astronauts Virgil I. Grissom, 40, Edward H. White, 36, and Roger B. Chaffee, 31, died. At mid-morning, the workers were in the process of removing the Apollo's 29-foot tall launch escape tower.

The nine-member board of inquiry investigating last Friday's disaster authorized the dismantling first making certain "there will be no unreasonable risk in working in and around the spacecraft."

Not only was the board trying to pin down the cause of the disaster, but it was expected to consider what needs to be done to prevent a similar tragedy.

Project Apollo's immediate future hinged on the panel's findings. There was no estimate on when those findings would be made public.

Coffee Drinkers To Aid Heart Fund

Local restaurants cooperated today in Coffee Day for the current Heart Fund drive. Coffee drinkers will aid the drive when they buy a cup of coffee since all coffee money will go to the drive, plus whatever the coffee drinker cares to contribute.

Mrs. Barbara Dowdy is serving as the 1967 Heart Sunday and Coffee Day chairman according to J. O. Matlock, Frankfort, State Chairman.

The month-long drive during February was initiated today with the second annual "Coffee Day" sponsored jointly by the Kentucky Restaurant Association and the Kentucky Heart Association.

The Panhellenic Group and Inter-Fraternity Council at Murray State University accepted sponsorship of the overall campaign. A house-to-house solicitation will be conducted on Heart Sunday, February 26.

Mrs. William Allen, assisted by the Gamma Gamma Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi at the University, is serving as Murray Special Events chairman.

Matlock also announced that Mrs. Charles Clark, Murray, will continue serving as year-round county Memorial Gifts chairman to receive and acknowledge donations made to Heart in memory of persons who pass away due to heart and blood vessel diseases.

Matlock, himself a heart patient, stated that "the effective use of Heart Fund dollars for research, community service and education has brought about an encouraging decrease in the number of heart patients whose lives were spared that year." He added, however, that "heart and related diseases still account for more deaths annually than all other causes combined."

Henry Schuler Is Mayfield Visitor

Henry Schuler of Murray was a visitor at the meeting of the Mayfield Rotary Club held Monday evening. Trooper Dana Stroud of the Kentucky State Police presented a "Safety Education" program.

space chamber at Brooks Air Force Base, Tex., Tuesday struck a new blow at the use of pure oxygen in the Apollo breathing system.

Two airmen were killed in conditions similar to those that took the lives of Virgil Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee.

As a result of the two fires, Chairman Clinton P. Anderson of the Senate Space Committee said the use of pure oxygen as the atmosphere in manned spacecraft should be re-evaluated.

"The use of 100 per cent oxygen has been questioned, by some people, in the past," Anderson said. "Now I think it should be questioned again."

Last Scream
An informed source told United Press International Tuesday there was a cry of "Fire in the cockpit" and a scream of 5 to 10 seconds duration during the disaster.

Stubblefield Chairman Of Subcommittee

Congressman Frank A. Stubblefield has been appointed Chairman of the Dairy and Poultry subcommittee of the House Committee on Agriculture at the committee's organizational meeting yesterday morning under the leadership of its new chairman, Representative Bob Rogers of Texas.

Stubblefield is the sixth ranking Democrat on the Agriculture committee and received this subcommittee chairmanship by appointment from Chairman Rogers.

The Dairy and Poultry subcommittee will have jurisdiction over legislation assigned to it for study by Chairman Rogers on pending matters before the congress that relate to the dairy and poultry industry.

In the past, this subcommittee has conducted studies and hearings into the problems of these industries and such studies have contributed to the administration of relevant legislation.

Within the provisions of the general farm program legislation each year, the dairy industry's price supports are always a significant factor. Although there is no poultry program as such, in recent years, various studies have been made which may result in definite legislative help for poultry producers.

A DAY OF RECKONING

President Johnson has now submitted a budget for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968, showing an estimated deficit of $4.1 billion.

He also reestimates his budget results for this year, ending June 30, 1967, showing an estimated deficit of $2.7 billion.

The national debt is jumping against the present debt ceiling of $330 billion. It is only a matter of time until the ceiling is raised again.

Actually, the so-called "debt ceiling" is a farce. It has been raised time and time again during the last several years. It will soon be raised again, and soon thereafter raised another time. It will always be raised when the debt is pushing against it.

Many years ago, Lenin predicted that the communists would force us to spend ourselves into destruction. We seem to be doing everything in our power to make that prophecy come true.

Some day we shall face a day of reckoning. It may not come today, some day it will come. It is doubtful that we shall know what that day is—until it has passed and is then too late.

Our present debt of approximately $330 billion is a debt the like of which no nation on the face of the earth has ever known. It is doubtful if any of us has any conception of how much $330 billion actually is.

One of the main planks on which the present administration ran for election during the 1964 campaign was the "prosperity plank." Several times during that campaign, President Johnson said that the last four years (the first three under Kennedy and the last one under himself) were the most prosperous four years in our history.

Let's look at that a minute. During each of those four years our national budget ran a deficit, the combined total amounting to $24.8 billion.

What sort of prosperity was that? It seems to me there is something faulty in the reasoning that can say those four years were the most prosperous four years in our history—when at the same time, piece-meal, deficit in our history.

Some day we shall face a day of reckoning. It may not come today, some day it will come. It is doubtful that we shall know what that day is—until it has passed and is then too late.

What sort of prosperity was that? It seems to me there is something faulty in the reasoning that can say those four years were the most prosperous four years in our history—when at the same time, piece-meal, deficit in our history.

Some day we shall face a day of reckoning. It may not come today, some day it will come. It is doubtful that we shall know what that day is—until it has passed and is then too late.

Our present debt of approximately $330 billion is a debt the like of which no nation on the face of the earth has ever known. It is doubtful if any of us has any conception of how much $330 billion actually is.

One of the main planks on which the present administration ran for election during the 1964 campaign was the "prosperity plank." Several times during that campaign, President Johnson said that the last four years (the first three under Kennedy and the last one under himself) were the most prosperous four years in our history.

Let's look at that a minute. During each of those four years our national budget ran a deficit, the combined total amounting to $24.8 billion.

Dear Abby

Young Lovers Need Sound Advice

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 17-year-old girl who has never given us any trouble. She's an honor student and is active in her church group. While she never was wildly popular, she has had a few "steady" boys.

I have suspected for some time that she and her boy friend were going "all the way." My suspicions were confirmed last week. I am not guessing. I know, for in four that she will get pregnant. Should I come right out and tell her I know, and offer her protection with birth control pills? I do not use them myself, but I'm sure my doctor would prescribe them for me if I asked him to, then I could give them to her.

Should we forbid her to see this boy again? (He is only 18.) Please advise me, Abby. If I failed to prevent the tragedy of bringing an unwanted life into the world (or perhaps a botched abortion) I would never forgive myself.

DEAR ABBY: If you provide your daughter with pills you are in effect condoning her illicit relations. Have a frank talk with her and tell her that you know. Stress the dangers of pre-marital relations and the rewards of self-control. Don't "forbid" her to see her boy friend or you'll drive them to meeting on the sly, which could make their clandestine meetings even more exciting.

Try to prevent them from spending too much time alone in tempting circumstances. Perhaps if your husband were to have a talk with the boy, it would help. Unwanted babies and botched abortions are not the only potential penalties for premarital relations. Venereal disease, fear of disclosure, and feelings of guilt and unworthiness do incalculable damage to the emotional health of "young lovers."

DEAR ABBY: Will you please say a few words in defense of wives who are constantly being accused of "entering" our husbands by feeding them fattening foods?

My husband is overweight and I am sick and tired of having people tell me it's my fault—and that I should "watch him." I serve well-balanced meals. I never make rich desserts. I give him fruit instead. But he raids the refrigerator every night.

He took up golf, but he rides around in a golf cart, eating candy bars, so a lot of good "golfing" does him. After dinner he goes out to buy a paper, and he stops for a hot fudge sundae. So, how can I help him, Abby?

DEAR ABBY: I could say a few

Fathers Honored At Buffet Supper By Scout Troop 163

Girls of Troop 163 honored their fathers with a delightful buffet supper on Friday, January 27, at the Girl Scout cabin.

The sixteen troop members are working toward completion of "The Sign of the Bear." One of the seven steps for this award requires that the troop plan and take part in a program that shows what the troop does. They are to use skills learned in making invitations and decorations, planning food, serving, entertaining, and being gracious hostesses.

Several weeks ago the girls divided into interest groups, forming committees, and began planning their special "Dads' Night."

The decoration committee used the green and gold color scheme in making invitations and name tags in the Girl Scout trefoil shape. They decorated the tables and fireplace with garlands of ivy, gold glittered carnations and lighted candles in silver holders.

Members of this committee were Nancy Spurr, Karen Hendon, Jan Shuffet, Gayle Miller, and Jennifer Outland.

The foods committee planned the menu of fried chicken, salads, baked potatoes, assorted vegetables, hot rolls, dessert, coffee, and milk, and arranged for each troop member to bring her share. They decided that a buffet-style dinner would be most convenient, arranged the tables, and individual table settings. Committee members were Denise Rowland, Beverly Byrd, Ellen Quarterman, and Gloria Cook.

A "get acquainted" game introduced guests and hostesses and after a special blessing was asked by Harris Byrd, the girls escorted their guests to the buffet table.

After dinner a "word scramble" game tested the Dads' knowledge of Scouting terms and prizes of cigars were won by Wayne Doran and Johnny Quarterman.

The entertainment committee presented a playlet entitled "Mister Dramatic." Characters were Narrator, Amanda Buice, Pa, Debbie Cunningham, Ma, Celia Larson, Nellie, Jeanie Jeffrey, the Hero, Anna Johnson, and Smithers (the villain), Marilyn Doran.

Dads joined their partners in a special good night circle and sang to close the evening. Leaders of the troop are Mrs. Harris Byrd and Mrs. L. J. Hendon. Mothers assisting with serving were Mrs. John Quarterman and Mrs. Everett Outland.

Spaghetti Supper Held By Girl Scout Troop 145

Girl Scout Troop 145 entertained their fathers with a spaghetti supper last Friday night at the Wesley Foundation.

Thirty nine people attended including the leader and co-leader, Mrs. Robert Howard and Mrs. Robert Bear. This troop has three patrols: Sunlight patrol, Kip Mason, leader; Robinswood patrol, Teresa, leader; comet patrol, Rachel Bear, leader. In addition there are two troop officers, scribe, Barbara Howard and treasurer, Lisa Harrell.

Everyone had a part in preparing the supper with one girl from each patrol taking part in the shopping, setting of tables, cooking and washing dishes. This will help them earn the merit badge for hospitality.

Sensing The News

The public should be forgiven if it views President Johnson's promise to reduce federal spending by several billion dollars with considerable skepticism. After all, this isn't the first time American taxpayers have heard Mr. Johnson promise to cut back federal spending. No doubt some citizens will recall the early period in Mr. Johnson's administration when he was insisting that the lights be turned off in the White House and government offices in order to curb expenses. pointed, but within months Mr. Johnson was proposing that billions be spent on Medicare, the War on Poverty and other costly Great Society operations.

Americans also will recall that Mr. Johnson appeared before Congress and submitted what he called a "barebones" budget. Yet this same budget was ringed by layers of fiscal timber, with enormous sums going to satisfy the appetite of American-brand socialists.

If the American people have to cut spending, they will have a long wait in the poorhouse. Mr. Johnson, according to accurate critics, doesn't know what budget-cutting means. Mr. Johnson stresses the demands of the Viet Nam war, and these demands are truly great. But Mr. Johnson does not insist that the national budget be put on a war footing, with non-essential spending eliminated. For example, the administration pushed through Medicare in the Congress. That is a plan whereby the federal government subsidizes rent payments for supposedly underprivileged citizens. An administration that seeks to spend money on Medicare can hardly be described as an administration that understands the meaning of the word frugality.

Even if the Johnson administration shaves $3 billion off its budget, it is unlikely that will answer the nation's need for governmental economizing. While the White House talks of clipping its budget by $3 billion, other government spokesmen indicated that the budget will grow enormously in other directions.

Walter Heller, Mr. Johnson's former economic adviser, already has suggested that the deficit may run between $10 billion and $15 billion this year.

Effective combat of the twin dangers of inflation and recession requires budget-cutting on a mass order, not on a token scale. Government operations are riddled with non-essential spending. For example, the federal government has more than 150 aid programs for states. It is bad business that states should look to Washington for a solution to all their problems. It is equally bad that Washington should try to run state affairs, pumping money into state capitals. Surely, budgetary axmen could have a field day on these programs.

Foreign aid still remains a prime area for budgetary reduction. Take the case of Egypt. For years, Egypt has been receiving millions of dollars worth of free food from the United States. With this food available to feed its people, the Egyptian government has been in a position to wage war in the small Red Sea country of Yemen. More recently, Egypt and other revolutionary Arab countries have been applying pressure against the more conservative Arab nations. Surely it is time for Mr. Johnson to cut off the supply of free food to the aggressive Egyptians who are working hand-in-hand with the Soviets.

Federal urban renewal programs have absorbed tax funds in large quantities. It is time that these programs be closed down and that cities be required to undertake their own renewal programs: win local funds or through the agency of private enterprise. Recently, David Rockefeller, a leading U. S. banker, pointed out that the rebuilding of cities is a task for private enterprise. But the Johnson administration doesn't want to cut federal spending in this field. Yet if frugality is to prevail in America, the get out of fields in which it doesn't belong. More token cuts are not the answer.

A real initiative in saving is not likely to come from the White House, simply promises and public relations gimmicks. The cost-cutting job will have to be done by Congress. Fortunately, the augmented conservatives in Congress should be able to make a start on the job.

In the interest of identification and conservation, the Nashville District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, planted 42,000 pine seedlings and 1,000 mixed hardwood seedlings at Chestnut Project during 1966. At three of the district projects, 2,385 acres of land were sown in feed crops for wild waterfowl.

Average annual flood damages on the main stem of the Cumberland River in 1956 amounted to $5,622,000 under natural conditions. Within ten years, with a system of projects constructed and maintained by the Nashville District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, the average damage has been reduced to $941,000.

A MOD HAT?—No, it's a new disk pack for storing information in Honeywell computers. The unit, technically a mass random-access storage device, holds 4.5 million characters of information, about twice as much as each of the 2,400-foot reels of magnetic tape spinning behind Linda Duncan. The disk spins at 2,400 revolutions a minute and can transmit or receive 208,333 characters a second between itself and a computer.

The sleek intruder is one of the most electronically well-equipped planes ever sent into action. Radar was guiding it against Viet Cong mortar positions when the fragmentation bombs went away.

To the North, only 11 miles south of Da Nang, everything went right for U.S. Marines Tuesday. They wiped out an entire unit of Communists with no casualties themselves. It was the payoff of a well-laid trap.

They caught the Communists in a ring. Eighteen guerrillas made a desperate bid for escape. They tried to float their weapons, their clothes and themselves down a small river and away. Waiting Marines killed 15 and captured the other three.

A little to the south, near Quang Ngai city, a Marine reconnaissance patrol got trapped. But a stream of Leatherneck artillery cut a path to safety for them and killed 11 Viet Cong. Fourteen other Communists fell to Marine guns in action Tuesday.

If project Apollo officials decide that the pure oxygen system should be abandoned in favor of a less dangerous mixture of oxygen and nitrogen, extensive design changes would have to be made in the Apollo spacecraft now on the assembly line.

Such changes would create delays that would jeopardize the nation's chances of landing men on the moon by 1970.

We were all ready to train Sport to bring us the paper this morning. Walked out to the road to pick it up and Sport saw what we had in mind. He ran to beat us to it. Here is our chance to train him we thought. We'll just wait until he picks it up then let him know how smart he is, and maybe he will get the idea. Sport had other ideas. We half expected him to grab the paper and run off in a frenzied spree, but he evidently read our mind and just took one muddy paw and swept the paper from one end to the other.

Two contracts amounting to $6,417,200 have been awarded by the Nashville District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers for three hydro turbines and three generators at the Cordell Hull Project. The turbine contract went to Babcock & Wilcox Hamilton Corp. and will be completed by April 1968. The generator contract was awarded General Electric Co. with a completion day of May 1, 1971.

The Nashville District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, placed work valued at $66,309,480 during 1966 for construction and development of five projects. Col. Jesse L. Fishback, district engineer, said the work was at Barkley Project, J. Percy Priest Project, Cordell Hull Project, Laurel Project and the Woodland Street Bridge modification.

U. S. Army Corps of Engineers reservoirs even out the flows of rivers by storing excess water in spring for release in dry summer months. This aids beauty, recreation, fish and wildlife conservation, navigation and water supply. It helps prevent the concentration of pollutants in low-flowing, semi-stagnant streams.

Calloway Is Winner Over Rebels 82-57

By GALE GARRISON

Trailing most of the first half, Calloway made a come back during the second half and romped on the Rebels by 24 points, 82-57. South was the first to score on Jimmy Clapp's short jumper from the corner. Henry Armstrong was fouled and hit his free throw. Jimmy Vaughn connected on a field goal to take a 3-1 lead for the Rebels. Calloway hit a quick field goal to tie the game at 3 all and then take a 5-3 lead.

Robert Locke tied the game, and Terry Rude took the lead back for South Marshall. Calloway was never able to take the lead during the rest of the first half, but had tied the game at 33 all at half time, after trailing 16-14 at the quarter.

Robert Locke opened the second half with a free throw to give South the lead. Ralph Sliger hit a two pointer, to give the Lakers their first lead since early in the first quarter. Armstrong hit a field goal, and then followed it with a free throw a few seconds later. Sliger then hit back to back field goals, and Calloway was on their way to a win.

There was only 2:43 seconds left in the third quarter when Calloway scored the first field goal of the half for the Rebels. They only scored one other field goal in the quarter, the rest of their scoring came from the free throw line. Calloway outscored South Marshall 22 to 8 in the third quarter.

Jimmy Clapp, South Marshall's higher scorer scored 22 points in the game, but was held to only two in the last half by Henry Armstrong's defensive play.

Calloway had three players in double figures led by Stan Key with 20 points. Ralph Sliger was next with 19, and Henry Armstrong had 17.

Calloway hit 43 percent of their field goals while South hit only 30 percent. The Lakers hit 50 percent better percentage from the line, as they hit 68 percent of their shots from the line and South hit 60 percent.

Mantle On

Line Again

At $100,000

By FRED DOWN

UPI Sports Writer

The last-place New York Yankees and Chicago Cubs doled out an estimated $100,000 in salaries Thursday in hopes that a pair of aging sluggers can help to get them to first base in 1967.

The Yankees, stunned by their 10th-place finish in 1966, signed Mickey Vernon to a $100,000 contract for a record fifth straight year while the Cubs, in the second year of Leo Durocher's three-year rebuilding program, reached terms with Ernie Banks for about $65,000.

Mantle will be playing at first base—Mantle in an experiment being tried for the first time and Banks in a compromise which Durocher at first rejected and then accepted in 1966. The Yankees reached the conclusion last season that Mantle only risks injury by trying to play center field while the Cubs learned that Banks no longer has the reactions to play shortstop.

"I'd have to say this probably will be my last season as player," said Mantle after he signed his contract. "That is unless I have a tremendous season. Then I might think about playing one more. Otherwise this is it."

The American League's three-time most valuable player, plagued with injuries during his career, played in 106 games last season and had a .288 average, 56 runs batted in and 23 homers. His 1966 output raised his lifetime homer total to 464—four shy of the 500-mark which is a personal goal.

Banks, who observed his 26th birthday Tuesday, was tried by Durocher at shortstop briefly last season but quickly displayed that he not only could play the position in big league style. Playing at first base and in the outfield, he batted .272, hit 15 home runs and drove in 75 runs. The Cubs also signed catcher John Boccabella, outfielder Byron Browne and pitcher Chuck Hartenstein.

In other signing:

Pitcher Luis Tiant and catcher Joe Azcue reached agreement with the Cleveland Indians.

trude with the Cincinnati Reds and pitchers Wilbur Wood and Roger Nelson, signed with the Chicago White Sox.

Pitcher Dennis Ribant, an 11-game winner for the New York Mets last season and third baseman Al Oliver signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pitchers Ray Sadecki and Ron Herbel came to terms with the San Francisco Giants, who have signed 24 players from their 41-man roster.

Acheson, is expected to assume his new post in February, COMSAT announced Sunday.
